Welcome!

Issue 46 · 17 – 23 Nov 2018

What has happened in the world? One second ago it was Bonfire Night, then suddenly we blinked and... IT'S CHRISTMAS! Yep, the shops are full of decorations, the ads are on the telly – but you know what? I don't mind one bit, because for us soap fans, Christmas and New Year really is the most wonderful time of the year!

“We blinked and... IT'S CHRISTMAS”

Yes, the soaps are starting to lay all the seeds for their big Yuletide plots, and I can't wait to see how it all turns out. So we thought starting this week, we'd take a trip down memory lane and remember Christmases past. After a lot of arguments in the office (does death by fairy lights trump a butcher-themed wedding, complete with meat cleaver arch for the bride and groom to walk under?), we finally nailed down the top 50, and we'll be revealing it over the course of the next few issues. So jump to p48 and get yourself in the festive mood!

SHIRLEY EVICTS LINDA!

The Carter family falls apart this week, as Shirley snaps and throws treacherous Linda out on to the street!

The fractious situation has been threatening to boil over for the past couple of months, ever since Linda announced that she couldn't continue to ignore the mounting evidence that her husband really did shoot vile Stuart. While Shirley has been staggered that Linda could even dream about giving up on Mick, she's gone over the edge completely now that Linda has actually come out in support of Stuart! What on earth is she thinking?

"This is the man who cruelly tortured Tina by tying her up in the boot of a car back in 1994," our Walford insider reminds us. "He's also the person who has bullied and intimidated Linda on multiple occasions. There are no shades of grey here. Even if Mick was the one responsible for shooting

Is Linda set to turn to the dark side?

Stuart, it really beggars belief that Linda would have any sympathy for this monster!”

CARTER CRISIS!

As the week begins, Tina, Whitney and Halfway continue their efforts to make Linda see sense. They try to pressure her into visiting Mick in prison, and beg her to see through Stuart’s manipulative lies. However, Linda is adamant that she has washed her hands of Mick, and even refuses to put her wedding ring back on. The rest of the family are utterly stunned, unable to understand what could be going through Linda’s mind right now.

When Stuart himself arrives at the Queen Vic later, Tina is quick to give him a verbal lashing. But as the tense atmosphere escalates, Linda tries to calm things down – and tells Stuart that he can stay!

INSIDE SCOOP

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

"This situation is a surreal nightmare!" gasps our snitch. "Linda is rolling out the red carpet for the Carters' arch-nemesis! Whitney tries to stand up for Mick in front of the other punters, but that's not worth much when even the geezer's own wife doesn't believe that he's innocent!"

Later, Stuart and Linda have a tender conversation, and he even tries to convince her that she could still have a future with Mick. Will she be willing to take back her husband if the man whom he apparently shot can show forgiveness towards him?

SHIRLEY'S RAGE!

When Shirley makes a surprise return to the Vic the following day, she's appalled to see what's been going on in her absence. And as soon as she spots Linda, she loses her rag and lashes out at Stuart, who is smugly smiling at the chaos he's caused.

After speaking with Tina, Shirley assures her they won't let Mick go down without a fight. She then contacts Phil, to see if he can help persuade lawyer Ritchie to represent Mick again. Yet given that Ritchie reckons the weight of evidence against Mick is too compelling, is the case a lost cause?

Returning to the Vic, Shirley grabs Linda's belongings and throws them over the bar, telling her daughter-in-law that if she never claps eyes on her again it will be too soon!

"A line has been drawn in the sand, that's for sure!" reckons our spy. "As far as Shirley is concerned, Linda has made her bed – with Stuart – so she can lie on it with him! With her family against her, Linda is left with no choice but to stay with Stuart for the night. How has it come to this?"

Fuming Linda returns to the Vic the following morning, determined to get her home back. And the fight gets dirtier when she phones the police to report Shirley!

"The cops turn up and tell Shirley that she can't throw Linda out," shrieks our sneak. "Well, you can imagine how Shirley reacts to that! At this rate, the entire Carter family will be joining Mick behind bars – and wicked Stuart will have truly won..."

Kat's back behind the bar!

Linda gives the ex-landlady a chance as a barmaid...

Here's a sight we haven't seen for a while – Kat Moon serving drinks in the Vic! But what brings her back?

The former pub landlady lands on her feet following yet another huge bust-up with her estranged husband Alfie. Anxious Kat gets in touch with the fella by video call, after their disastrous meeting last week. Since then, Alfie has returned to Spain, and Kat begs him once more to let her see her children. Her anguish soon turns to anger, however, when she realises how Alfie has lied to her...

Later, distraught Kat skives off from her cleaning shift at the Vic, and instead helps herself to some booze – only to be caught red-handed by Linda! Astonishingly, rather than sacking her corrupt cleaner, Linda takes pity on Kat, and following a heart-to-heart, asks her to provide some help behind the bar.

Witnessing the exchange, Stuart quietly seethes, and later charms Dot into giving him the low-down on Kat. What is the villain planning, and why has he developed this very sudden interest in Kat?

Partners in crime?

ROBERT AND NICOLA TEAM
UP TO RIP OFF GRAHAM...

Robert and Nicola manage to fool Graham – but she soon feels uneasy

An unlikely partnership is formed in the village this week, as Robert ropes Nicola into a dodgy plot to claw back his stake in the haulage firm.

Having lost his share of the business to conniving Joe, Robert wants to turn the tables now the former lord of the manor is no more – and persuades reluctant Nicola to help him. But as they set about conning Graham into signing the important papers, is Nicola ready to see the plan through?

“Nicola likes Robert’s idea initially,” admits Nicola Wheeler, who plays her. “Jimmy has been sent off on a week-long haulage trip because Graham has made a mistake with an order. She’s stuck with a load of sick kids in the haulage office, but makes Robert look after them while she’s sorting stuff out. They end up chatting about the expense involved in bringing up children, and that’s what gets Robert thinking that he needs to get back in on the business...”

With no love lost between Nicola and the Home Farm contingent, she’s keen on the idea of Kim Tate incarcerated and her henchman Graham losing control of the haulage company – well, to begin with, anyway...

“Nicola does appreciate the prospect of Kim and Graham no longer owning half of her husband Jimmy’s business,” explains

Nicola. “And she and Robert do make rather a good pair, since they’re both quite ruthless! Usually, if any plan serves them for the greater good, then they'll be in there and doing it. And they won't have any concerns about who they hurt in the process."

“Nicola likes Robert’s idea – they’re both ruthless!”

Wasting no time, the cunning pair draw up the relevant contracts and deliver them to Home Farm personally – where they find inebriated Graham passed out on the sofa.

"They wake him up and tell him that his signature is needed for something to get through," reveals Nicola. "They claim that Robert's signature isn't enough as he no longer has a stake in the firm. And Graham, in his drunkenness, is more than willing to put pen to paper."

It seems the two may have done enough in order to get their wicked way – until Nicola starts to feel differently. Is she about to be struck by a very rare dose of guilty conscience, and leave her cohort Robert high and dry?

While Nicola and Robert shared a saucy encounter back in 2002, star Nicola insists their reunion is strictly business, and that her alter ego is embracing domestic bliss with hapless husband Jimmy...

"Things are good between them," claims Nicola. "While she's realised just how important he is, their lives could be much better with a couple more million quid!"

"Nicola's not at all interested in moving into Home Farm or anything like that, though," adds the actress. "She's quite happy with her smaller kingdom for now!"

"Nicola knows what Graham's capable of, and that he's a dangerous man," teases Nicola. "And the only reason she and Robert have this opportunity is because he's so drunk. Robert's very blasé about the whole thing, and neither of them are worried about Kim, because she's in prison now."

"But there's then a moral issue for Nicola – is she willing to take advantage of someone who's in a position as weak as Graham's? Or might she end up with cold feet?"

Ali hits the self-destruct button!

HE'S DICING WITH DANGER AS HIS GUILT INTENSIFIES...

There's horror for Michelle this week, as son Ali hits rock bottom and puts his life in danger.

The traumatised doctor can't cope with the guilt of having aided the death of drug dealer Ronan, and is desperate to escape the prison of his own mind. Unable to sleep and in dire need of relief, Ali does the unthinkable and steals drugs from the medical centre. Then he goes out, gets blind drunk, and ends up cracking on to his brother's girlfriend.

"Ali is out of control, and heading for a total meltdown," warns our Coronation Street insider. "When he starts flirting with Bethany, he isn't in his right mind – in fact, he's out of his head. That doesn't matter to Ryan, though. When he finds Ali getting over-friendly with Bethany, he hits the roof."

If Ryan knew the lengths that Ali went to protect him, he'd understand why his shaken sibling is acting so bizarrely. But he doesn't realise that if Ali hadn't killed Ronan, it would be Ryan who was six feet under. The mixture of antidepressants and booze have made Ali even crazier, and it falls to Robert and Michelle to step in to break the boys up. It's horrendous for Michelle to see the pair in a violent altercation, but she

Michelle is living on her nerves following recent events

Brothers at war! Ryan isn't happy when he finds Ali with Bethany doesn't let anything slip and keeps Ali's secret. However, something that Robert says prompts Ryan to question what really happened that night.

As Ryan muses over what Robert meant, Ali is heading for real trouble when he drunkenly starts a fight with a gang of bikers.

Can anybody save him?

"Ali stumbles into the night, and is soon on the wrong side of some seriously scary types," reveals our spy. "These aren't people to mess with, and Ali finishes up getting beaten half to death by them! It's only when Ryan arrives that the bikers are stopped in their tracks, and the pair are able to escape. Michelle can't believe her eyes as Ryan drags home Ali severely hurt and covered in blood. How much more of this can she handle?"

Michelle and Robert do their best to support her injured son as Ryan digs for more info, convinced they are all hiding something from him. But given the depth of Ali's despair and Michelle's fear of what he might do next, can the killer secret remain buried any longer?

SURF'S UP!

Chillin' with James Burrows, aka Ali...

He's busy on screen as Dr Ali right now, but Corrie actor James Burrows has been taking some time out to relax – and indulge in his favourite hobby...

"I've been chilling out and surfing," he tells us. "It's been really nice, it's my therapy. I've surfed for quite a few years – since I was 14 years old – and I spend a lot of time in Cornwall, which I love."

James will also have the chance to catch some waves in the sunshine, as he's going Down Under.

"I'm off to Australia for my cousin's wedding," he reveals. "I've got two-and-a-half weeks out there, and I can't wait. I have to get back for work, or I'd probably stay in Oz for a little bit longer!"

TERROR FOR SIMON & PETER!

The Barlow boys face deadly danger...

Corrie looks set to blow the other soaps out of the water next year, when a canal boat goes up in flames – and threatens to claim the lives of Peter and Simon!

Whispers from Weatherfield suggest that new boss Iain MacLeod is already making plans for the stunt, with the crew recently spotted taking delivery of the doomed vessel at the soap's studios in Manchester...

"Iain was the mastermind behind Emmerdale's spectacular Hotten bypass multi-car pile-up two years ago – so it's exciting that he has some blockbuster scenes lined up for the Street," enthuses our cobbles spy. "But let's hope for Peter and Simon's sake that the death toll isn't quite as high!"

Following Simon's announcement that he hopes to join the Navy just as his father did, the lad's dreams risk going up in smoke. Reports claim that Simon will be trapped on board a boat after it catches fire, prompting heroic Peter to try to rescue him.

Will the Barlows escape with their lives?

Corrie bosses are keeping tight-lipped over the storyline, as it's a plot that's still a way off from hitting our screens. Inside Soap

also understands that there were several inaccuracies when the story was first reported in the tabloids – so viewers had better stay tuned to see if and how the drama unfolds, and what twists are in store...

KATE'S BABY BOMBSHELL!

If Rana won't have a child with her, she'll find someone who will...

Kate's determination to have a baby will know no bounds – according to reports that two local fellas are in the frame to aid her mission to become a mum!

Rumour has it that Robert will become an anonymous sperm donor for Kate and Rana after his partner Michelle admits that she doesn't want any more kids – setting the stage for huge drama if 'Chelle finds out!

However, even juicier gossip suggests that Kate will turn to Adam Barlow and look to seduce the sexy solicitor, after learning that Rana isn't as keen to start a family...

"Kate's out of her mind with grief for her brother, Aidan, and thinks she's lost Rana," explains our Street source. "She comes to her senses before going through with sleeping with Adam – Kate's gay and loves Rana and can't believe that she nearly let her grief-fuelled obsession for a baby almost lead her into making the biggest mistake of her life."

Viewers will have to wait and see whether Kate and Rana can find a compromise over their differences to starting a family – and what that could mean in the long-run for Robert.

However, Inside Soap understands that there is still every reason for us to run out and buy a big hat, when Kate and Rana's wedding hits our screens next year. So the big question remains: will they be planning for a baby as well as their marriage?

AUDREY'S DEATH SHOCK! It could be the end for Lewis...

Tragedy could strike the cobbles as 2019 dawns, with reports that Lewis Archer is to be bumped off!

Corrie star Jack P Shepherd – who plays David – let slip at the Inside Soap Awards that the Grim Reaper will be paying the Street a visit over the festive period...

"I think someone dies at New Year," teased the actor. "It might have something to do with the Platts – and no, it's not David the dog."

Rumours have since started to circulate that Lewis is the doomed character in question, with star Nigel Havers – who is due to appear in Snow White at the London Palladium over Christmas – having been in on the twist ever since he agreed to reprise the role.

But if the gossip is true, how and why will Lewis die? He and Audrey seem very happy – so will the former con man meet an untimely end after finally redeeming himself?

Or will someone have a motive to finish him off?

DARE TO BE DIFFERENT

Hollyoaks is to break new ground again...

HOLLYOAKS

Mandy and Darren are to be at the heart of a special episode of Hollyoaks that will celebrate diversity in the village. The pair will face a difficult decision regarding the health of their unborn baby, just as their friends and neighbours prepare for a charity event honouring the village residents who have disabilities and additional needs.

"The episode features a signing choir, which Oscar [who suffers with hearing difficulties] is a part of, and charities who have advised on the script will play a role in the event," says Hollyoaks archivist Laura Halligan. "Brooke is pivotal in helping Oscar with this performance, and the episode is as heartbreaking as it is heart-warming – as we explore the hardships and joys of living with a disability, while celebrating the diversity of our cast."

"We have two exceptionally talented leading actors with disabilities or additional needs in Amy Conachan [Courtney], who is a wheelchair user, and Talia Grant [Brooke], who has autism," adds executive producer Bryan Kirkwood. "It's important to us that they star in huge Hollyoaks stories rather than fade into the background."

The episode will air next year.

Little Oscar will be a part of a choir

Star Amy is set to be front and centre in the episode

STOP PRESS!

No soap swap!

We're not likely to see Lauren Branning suddenly pop up in Corrie or the Dales any time soon, following former Walford star Jacqueline Jossa's revelation that she has absolutely no plans to appear in a rival soap. "My loyalty lies with EastEnders," she insists.

Puppy love!

Walford's Tameka Empson (Kim) will lend her dulcet tones to a new Disney Channel series of 101 Dalmatians. She'll voice the part of Pearl Police Horse when the series kicks off next spring.

Together at last!

Colby's search for his long-lost sister, Bella, in Home and Away looks set to reach a heart-wrenching conclusion when the pair are finally reunited. What is sure to be an emotional moment for the estranged relatives will hit TV screens in the UK next year.

Soap SPY...

Sad acts!

This sorrowful snap of EastEnders stars Luisa Bradshaw-White (Tina) and Linda Henry (Shirley) sums up the mood of the Carter family, now that wicked Stuart appears to have his feet under the table at the Vic! But as ever, the vibe off screen couldn't be more different – and if you look closely, you'll see cheeky Tony Clay (Halfway) photobombing their selfie!

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

The end for Chas & Paddy?

THE DEVASTATED COUPLE LOOK SET TO SPLIT UP...

The simmering tension between Paddy and Chas explodes this week, leaving their relationship hanging by a thread.

Ever since baby Grace died, her grief-stricken parents have started to grow apart, and it looks as though the distance between them can't be closed. Chas confides in Lydia, and Marlon does his best to stand by Paddy – although it all comes to a head when Paddy makes a gesture that leaves Chas cold, and she loses it.

"What's tragic is that Paddy and Chas have never needed each other more," explains our Emmerdale insider. "They have so much love for each other, yet their different ways of dealing with Grace's death has driven a deep wedge between them. Everyone around them is worried about them and the state of their relationship, but only they can put this right."

Paddy's approach is to show Chas how much she means to him by staging a romantic meal, with Marlon's help. He's terrified that he's losing Chas and that it's too late to win her back – however, best friend Marlon insists that Paddy must be upbeat and proactive, and convinces him that a nice quiet dinner date will give them a chance to reconnect. But when Chas arrives to find the table laid and Paddy waiting for her, it feels wrong. Her grief is too raw, and all the anger and hurt she feels about Paddy's cold and detached behaviour comes pouring out. Soon, they are in the middle of the worst row they've ever had.

Paddy's plan for a dinner date with Chas goes massively awry

"It's a vicious, devastating shouting match and things are said that will cut deep," says our spy. "Chas is like a woman possessed and Paddy is just floored by how furious she is – yet he can't control his anger either. It gets so bad that they end up spilling out into the Woolpack bar and having a public showdown that shocks

PADDY & CHAS' JOURNEY

The couple have so much history...

MORE THAN FRIENDS!

Paddy's friendship with fiery Chas turned passionate. He was besotted with her, but she was simply playing it safe by picking a good guy for a change. They got serious, but trouble was ahead...

DADDY PADDY

The arrival of Chas' son Aaron caused shock waves, especially as he was violent, moody and hated his mum. Yet Paddy fought to build trust between them and became a surrogate father for the lad.

CARL RUINS IT ALL

Chas tried to fight her forbidden feelings, but eventually ended up bedding her bad-boy ex Carl – who took great delight in telling Paddy. Heartbroken, he threw out her and Aaron, and Chas was full of regret.

BACK TOGETHER!

After years apart, and Paddy's failed marriage to Rhona, Chas made a surprise pass at her former flame. Nobody knew if it was a bunk-up or the real thing, but it was official!

WEDDING WOE!

Now expecting baby Grace, Paddy proposed – though the tragic news about her condition left them reeling. While they decided to go on with their wedding, Chas got cold feet – so they spent a romantic day together instead.

It's a harrowing time for young Prince

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 TUESDAY

Prince's cancer scare!

HE'S TERRIFIED WHEN HE FINDS A LUMP...

Teenager Prince faces every bloke's worst nightmare this week, when he finds a lump on his testicle.

Scared of what it could be, Prince finds himself unable to open up to his wife Lily about what he's going through – and instead pushes her away...

"Prince doesn't want to tell anyone, because obviously it's quite personal," explains Malique Thompson-Dwyer, who plays the young fella. "He's distanced himself from Lily since discovering this lump, although he eventually tells his best mate Romeo about the whole ordeal. And Romeo attempts to convince him that he needs to tell his wife what's going on."

While Prince is preoccupied with his health scare, he has completely forgotten that it's Lily's 18th birthday! All she wants to do is spend her big day with her hubby, but Prince is too caught up in his own problems, and brushes her off.

"Prince has a lot on his mind at the moment," sighs Malique. "When Romeo tells him that it's Lily's birthday, though, Prince is absolutely

“Louis notices that Prince isn't behaving like his normal self...”

Prince is frightened – and he's pushing away his wife Lily

Lily's head has been turned by Romeo – but Prince has no idea gobsmacked. Obviously he's desperate to find a way to put it all right."

But Prince doesn't just find himself in Lily's bad books – when he fails to turn up for his window-cleaning shift at the school, Louis is furious with him. And after the teacher threatens to sack Prince for his behaviour, the teenager lashes out and punches him!

"Louis notices that Prince isn't behaving like his normal self, he's arguing with his wife and pushing people away," Malique tells us. "Once Louis confronts him, Prince has no choice but to tell him what's really going on.

He's already punched him at this point, and he really doesn't want to get arrested for assault!"

Louis' advice is the same as Romeo's – Prince needs to open up to his loved ones about what he's going through, then go to the hospital to get proper medical advice. But will the headstrong fella listen to what he's told?

"It could be something serious, though you never know until you go to get it checked out," advises Malique. "However, that's the main thing Prince is scared about, having to go to the hospital and have people touching him down there. He's still a little boy really, and he's petrified.

"My advice to Prince would be to tell his family what's going on," adds the actor. "If you keep stuff like this to yourself, it's going to eat you up. Prince needs to get it sorted – there's nothing to be afraid of."

But as Prince continues to deal with his health crisis alone, little does he realise that his actions are pushing Lily into the arms of Romeo! So, could Prince be about to lose his wife to his best mate, just when he needs them both the most?

Hi honey, I'm home!

PHIL RETURNS TO WALFORD
- JUST AS SHARON AND KEANU FALL INTO BED...

The Mitchell house will be the scene of some explosive drama this week, when patriarch Phil walks through the front door – just as his other half Sharon is busy getting jiggy upstairs with her secret teenage lover, Keanu!

Phil hopes to surprise his 'devoted' wife after an extended trip to Spain – but it'll be the Walford hard man who receives the shock of his life when he stumbles on some saucy shenanigans taking place under his roof...

"Phil is in for a very rude awakening!" teases our insider. "The scene that greets him is enough to make him turn that funny shade of purple he sometimes goes when he's really, really angry!"

The irony of Phil's ill-timed homecoming is that Sharon and Keanu had actually made a pact to keep their distance from one another. However, when she happens to witness an exchange between Keanu and Louise – who is asking the young mechanic to give her driving lessons – Phil's green-eyed missus can't help but feel a twinge of jealousy.

It soon transpires that Sharon is craving the attention of her toy boy when she later spots Keanu fixing her son Dennis' bike – so she invites him for lunch. At this point the confused fella doesn't know whether he's coming or going with Sharon – who has a right bee in her bonnet after Jean dares to innocently suggest that Keanu and Louise might fancy each other!

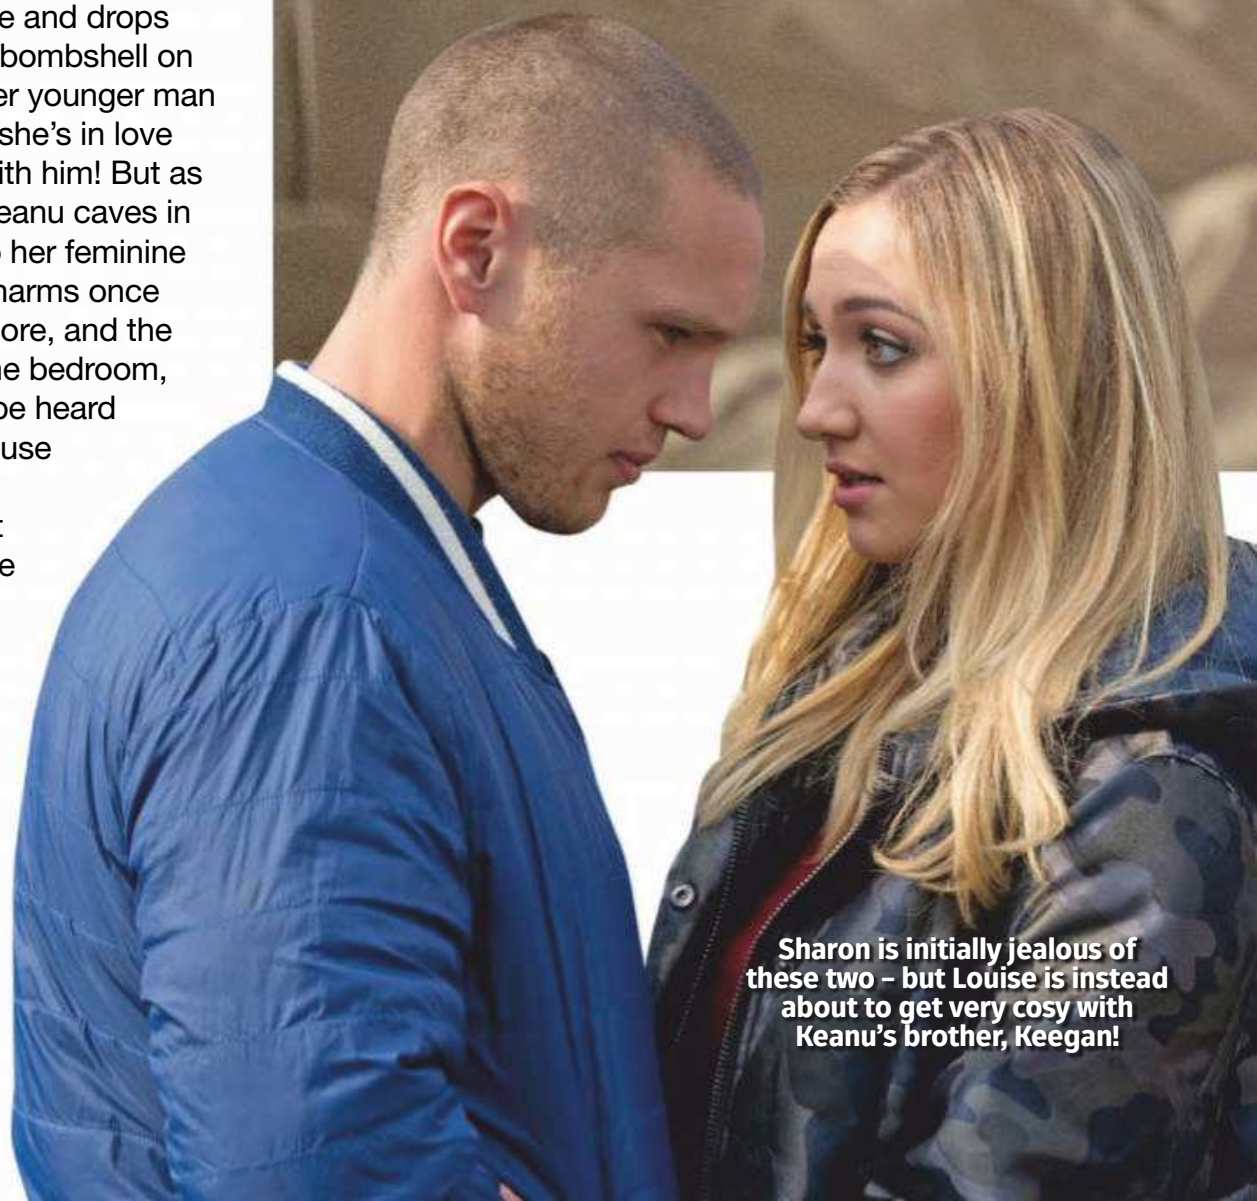

With that, Sharon lays her heart on the line and drops a bombshell on her younger man – she's in love with him! But as Keanu caves in to her feminine charms once more, and the pair head for the bedroom, footsteps can be heard entering the house downstairs.

"There's a bit of a twist before Phil arrives home," reveals our sneak. "It's actually Louise who turns up first at No 55 with Keegan! There is clearly quite a spark between the pair – not to mention some unfinished business – and soon, one thing leads to another.

So while Phil's wife is getting busy with Keanu upstairs, his daughter is up to no good downstairs with Keanu's brother!"

Phil sure knows how to pick his moment – sending both of the ladies in his life into a blind panic when he unexpectedly strides back into his gaff looking for Sharon.

As both Sharon and Louise attempt to cover their tracks with Keanu and Keegan, is Phil about to be on the receiving end of a double shock? If the ultimate bombshell should land at his feet, and Phil learns that Sharon has been having it away with another bloke, what will her furious hubby do next?

Laura Jayne-Tyler

Undercover cop and secret philanderer Ray is already a man of much mystery – but he throws EastEnders viewers another curveball this week, after he once again strikes up a bond with youngster Louise.

Phil's daughter is having a bad day in the wake of a disastrous driving lesson, when Ray chances upon her at the Square's war memorial, and offers her some friendly words of comfort. It's actually Ray who encourages Lou to be honest about her feelings for Keegan – but what is his game? Is he simply in the right place at the right time to help a damsel in distress? Or does Ray have another secret agenda that requires him to befriend Phil Mitchell's daughter?

We're keeping a very keen eye on this one...

Will Susan kill Finn?

SHE WANTS RID OF
THE VILLAIN, ONCE AND FOR ALL...

Erinsborough stalwart Susan looks set to do the unthinkable this week – as she picks up a pillow and considers smothering nemesis Finn!

The wicked fella is lying in a coma, having been pushed over the edge of a cliff by one of his enemies.

It's unclear yet exactly who was responsible for the bloke's undoing. The guilty party is one of Susan, Elly, Bea or Xanthe – though whether she started the job or not, Susan's determined to finish Finn off...

"Susan's not a vindictive, calculated person, but she is very conflicted," explains actress Jackie Woodburne, who plays the Ramsay Street favourite. "While I don't believe for a moment that Susan is really serious about killing Finn, part of her wants this whole horrible situation to disappear. She just wants her life back – without Finn Kelly in it!"

As the week kicks off, Susan is still grappling with her guilt over what happened at the clifftop. She and her cohorts are all terrified about what will happen if Finn wakes up and names the person who put him in hospital – then, when a mystery illness breaks out at the school, Susan is horrified to learn that Finn orchestrated the entire thing before his fall!

"Susan is extremely guilt-ridden – in her mind, she should have protected the girls, and it shouldn't have ended like this," Jackie tells us. "There is a man badly injured in hospital, which she blames herself for. However, now his actions involve sick children, and she is struggling to comprehend how he could possibly stoop this low."

It's Finn's latest deed which prompts Susan to find herself stood over his hospital bed,

Can Susan really go through with bumping off fiendish Finn?

The battle to save Jac!

TWO FORMER HOLBY FAVOURITES
COME RACING TO HER RESCUE...

Sacha and Fletch call in the cavalry this week, having run out of answers to help Jac. The pair make the uneasy decision to put her life in the hands of Jac's former nemesis and troubled neurosurgeon, Guy Self (played by John Michie), who is soon joined by heart specialist Mo Effanga. But can they save their former colleague? Chizzy Akudolu (Mo) is quietly confident...

Welcome home, Chizzy! How did it feel slipping back into Mo's scrubs?

I've absolutely loved it. I was constantly smiling on set – even though I was up at 5 o'clock every morning!

Tell us about Mo's return to the ward...

Fletch needs a cardiothoracic consultant to assist with Jac's surgery, so Mo comes racing up the motorway. She's very confident in her work, and knows that she can help save her. It's not even on Mo's radar that Jac could die.

Where does Guy fit in?

Mo's quite surprised when she sees him and even jokes, "He's not responsible for this, is he?" But when it comes down to it, Guy is the lead surgeon. He wants to save Jac's life, too.

Mo is sticking around to run Darwin Ward for a bit. What can we expect from her leadership?

Some fun! Poor Nicky was terrified while working under Jac, so the pressure is lifted a little bit with Mo in charge. It's still business as usual on the ward, but there's more freedom.

Is Mo still happy with her other half, Mr T?

Guy is back – and set to save the life of his former colleague

Yes, she is – and their son Hector is doing fine! Ben [Hull, who played Mr T] and I are still in touch. I absolutely adore him.

"I've so enjoyed working on a plot that involves a very broad range of emotions," she grins. "All of the women had their own motives for potentially pushing Finn off the clifftop that day – and Susan certainly had her reasons given their history.

"Will Finn survive?" adds Jackie. "There are a lot of ramifications for everyone involved, and there's lots more still to play out!"

Ruby discovers Martin's betrayal!

SHE'S ROCKED WHEN SHE HEARS OF THE POLICE'S NEW EVIDENCE...

Ruby is crushed this week, when she learns that Martin gave vital evidence to the police which could harm her chances of bringing her rapist to justice.

Stacey's best friend has been trying hard to move on with her life since the shocking events of last month. Having reported to the police how she didn't consent to have sex with Martin's old school pal Matt, her only choice now is to wait and see if charges will be made against him. In the meantime, she collects the keys to her new home, keen to make a fresh start in Walford.

"Ruby is a strong woman, even if this has knocked her for six," says our Albert Square insider.

"She's determined that this won't destroy her life. However, when the police visit for an update, she's shocked that they have a photograph showing her kissing Matt at E20! What she can't comprehend is how such a photo exists, and how it's fallen into police hands. She's crushed, as she knows it will weaken her statement that she didn't consent to have sex."

After Martin calls round later, he's quick to comfort upset Ruby about the development. But since he shared the picture with the police in the first place, he struggles to hide his growing feelings of guilt.

"Martin doesn't want to hurt Ruby," stresses our snitch. "He feels awful, even though he actually did the right thing in being honest with the law. Despite not proving that Ruby consented to sex that night, the reality is that it does support Matt's defence more – and if the case goes to court, the prosecution will have a tough time insisting that Ruby's story is the truth."

Ruby is stunned when the police show her the photo of her kissing Matt

Stacey confronts Kush about his interference – forcing Martin to come clean

Cora, on Walford.

"The way Gail talks about Nick, I was expecting Jesus Christ in brogues. David's smarter – he's found out what he's good at and he's stuck to it. And for all the chat about Nick, what is he? Just a blagger in a sharp suit."

We really do worry that 'the lady doth protest too much'. Don't go there, Shona!

"I could eat a nun's bum through a convent gate. My dad used to say that."

"You're new to this, so I'm going to explain how it works. I whine on and on and on until I wear you down and then you just give into my demands. Or, we can just skip that part and go and have fun now."

April was, without doubt, the most enjoyable character in soap last week.

Wracked with guilt, Martin begs Kush to say that he gave the police the photo, and he reluctantly agrees. Elsewhere, Ruby tells Stacey about the latest police update and reveals that she's dropping the charges.

"Stacey rages at Kush for his betrayal!" gasps our mole. "Of course, Martin immediately realises that he has to come clean, and Stacey is appalled that her husband undermined Ruby's case. The question is: can the situation be salvaged?"

Stacey demands Martin tells Ruby the truth, and he agrees to own up. Ruby is shocked – but will she change her mind about trying to get justice?

Leanne is hurt and furious now she knows that he lied to her about his relationship status and reconciled with her while still married to oblivious Elsa. Worse still, now Nick has bought Peter's share of Underworld, he's here to stay, and Leanne is going to have to see him all the time. So while the frantic fella tries to beg her for forgiveness, Leanne has some apologising to do herself.

"Leanne feels really sorry for Elsa – she knows what it's like to be badly treated by Nick," explains our Weatherfield snitch. "Elsa wants to face down Leanne and ask her why she stole her husband, but the truth is that Leanne had no idea she even existed and Nick hid the fact he was a married man. Will Elsa believe her?"

Meanwhile, Nick is also at war with new business partner

Nick was frozen with fear when Elsa showed up on the cobbles and ex-wife Carla. Having played the Elsa card, Carla has no leverage over Nick – but when Elsa reveals that Nick took £40,000 of her money to do the deal, that's something Carla can work with.

"Nick doesn't need to be in the picture at all – because if he bought his share with Elsa's cash, it belongs to her!" explains our spy. "Carla reckons they should cut him out and go into business together. It's a tempting offer, and is a great way for Elsa to take revenge on Nick."

With three of his wives all gunning for him, can Nick survive this whole debacle?

But he's an innocent man and didn't grass up Spike, even though he did do the crime! After that, Spike tells Gemma that she should come clean to Ches about how she feels. Will she be brave enough?"

She may have the perfect chance when Ches agrees to go for a truce lunch with her. So will Gemma speak up – or will she let Chesney be happy with new girlfriend Emma?

BON VOYAGE, BONNIE

It was really sad to see Carmel wave goodbye to Walford – I think actress Bonnie Langford has done a superb job in the role. However, the trick Carmel played on Keegan before she left was just cruel. I get that she was trying to make a point, but I think it was all wrong.

🗨️ | Kendra

SAL'S TOP DOG

It's hilarious watching Sally in Corrie fight for her fellow prisoners' rights! Is it wrong that I actually don't want her to get out of jail just yet? I think she's finally found her calling, and there's so much scope for comedy stories for her now that she's behind bars!

🗨️ | Hal, Cumbria

I think Gina will be joining you in hoping Sal remains banged up!

A FAIR HEARING

Doctors is my favourite soap. However, I think that the recent story involving Ruhma having hearing problems is being handled insensitively. To even suggest that

Sally will soon be campaigning for longer prison sentences

Heston might not fancy her with a hearing aid is, I believe, very offensive to people coping with hearing difficulties. Do they have a new writer? Rob and James' mental problems have been admirably portrayed and acted. I hope this is just a blip.

🗨️ | Sara, Melton Mowbray
Poor Ruhma's priorities have dramatically changed following recent events...

Bob and Laurel's relationship didn't have a Hope in hell of surviving

BOB BINNED

What was the point in getting Bob and Laurel together in Emmerdale, just for her to dump him a few months later? It was clear from the start that they were totally mismatched, but why on earth did the writers put us through watching that in the first place?

🗨️ | Georgie, Cambridge
I'm just delighted that Laurel finally came to her senses!

LOVEDAY LOVE RAT

Why does Louis in Hollyoaks have all these women throwing themselves at him? I used to like him when he was married to Simone, but they've completely ruined the character by making him a serial love cheat!

🗨️ | Naima
Secretly marrying his ex-wife's sister wasn't his best idea...

Lovedays? More like Hatedays!

We wouldn't let any member of our family drill a hole in our head!

DOC HORROR

I thought doctors weren't meant to operate on members of their family, yet both Tori and Mason in Home and Away were treating their little sister Raffy when she was brought into hospital. Tori even drilled a hole in Raffy's skull! Surely there would have been another medic available to perform such a difficult operation?

👤 | Evie

This never would have happened in Hunky Dr Nate's day!

TRUST ISSUES

Neighbours' Sonya and Toadie must be the most trusting people in soap. After everything they went through with Andrea, how could they let a complete stranger into their house to look after their kids? They deserve everything that Alice throws at them, just for being so gullible!

👤 | Fiona, Bedford

To be fair to them, Alice puts on a very convincing act...

Better the devil you know!

MOTHER'S RUIN

I can't decide who's been the worst mum in soap this week – EastEnders' Bev who couldn't give a hoot when she thought Hayley's baby daughter had died, or Karen in Home and Away, who almost killed her son Dean with her drunken antics!

👤 | Lucinda

Something tells me Hayley and Dean will come good in the end.

The BIG DEBATE!

KATE AND RANA ENGAGED!

'Kana' fans up and down the country rejoiced when the lovebirds popped the question to each other at the same time! Hooray! But are the cracks starting to show in their relationship already?

It's great that Rana is finally back from her cruise with her mum, and that she and Kate are now engaged. I half-expected her horrible mother to try to kidnap her again, so I'm really glad this story has had a happy ending.

👤 | Graham

Kate and Rana deciding that they wanted to propose at the exact same time was just adorable! After everything they have been through to be together, they really deserve to be happy. Let's hope that the writers don't decide to throw too many dramas at the pair before the big day!

👤 | Miriam

Sorry, Miriam, but things don't look good for them...

Just when I thought Kate and Rana could finally have a tiny moment of joy as they celebrated their engagement, they end up completely at odds over whether or not to have a baby! Can't they get through one episode without a major drama? Please, Corrie?

👤 | Jenny, London

Did anyone else find Kate so bloomin' irritating when she kept banging on about wanting to have a baby? Put a sock in it, love, you've only just got engaged! You would think she'd remember that Rana never wanted to have a baby when she was with Zee.

👤 | Tabby

While everyone was happily toasting the happy couple, did anyone stop to think that Rana is actually still married?

👤 | Jonathan

But divorces always come through quickly in soapland!

Request SPOT

MYSTER-E

I saw some pictures in Inside Soap of Nick's mystery missus in Corrie, Elsa, and I recognised the actress from somewhere. What's she been in before?

📧 | Lianne

The actress who plays Elsa is Kelly Harrison – and if you're a Casualty fan, you may remember her playing paramedic Nikki Marshall from 2001 to 2004. She was also recently in the BBC's Age Before Beauty.

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

DADDY STE?

Now that Sinead is back in Hollyoaks, can you remind me of the history between her and Ste, please, Sarah? I don't get how they have a child together when he's gay!

📧 | Jacqueline

Ste and Sinead were best mates, but had an ill-advised drunken bunk-up, which resulted in her getting pregnant with their daughter, Hannah.

Although she knew he was gay, Sinead told Ste she loved him, and the pair decided to give things a go for the sake of their child – and Ste even proposed! But Sinead was gutted when she found out he'd been cheating on her with Harry, and left Hollyoaks – taking their daughter with her.

“I shouldn’t really say I’ve enjoyed being in prison – but I have!”

As Sally faces trial, Corrie actress Sally Dynevor admits that being banged up isn’t all that bad...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

She’s languished behind bars for weeks, but Sally Metcalfe will finally get the chance to defend herself properly this week, as the case reaches court.

There are lots of twists and turns ahead, with con man Duncan working overtime to make sure Sally takes the rap. Although plenty of people might like snobby Sally to get knocked down a peg or two, the brutal reality of her position will be laid bare, and it’ll take a hard heart to feel nothing for her predicament. For Corrie star Sally Dynevor, it’s been a fascinating chapter in her character’s story – and has certainly given her pause for thought...

“It’s been harrowing to film – because everything’s falling apart for Sally and she might even have to sell her house!” she explains, as she joins us for a chat about her alter ego’s big year. “It’s sad and awful, and it made me think about people who are in this position in real life. It can happen through no fault of their own, just through naivety or something terrible. There must be loads of people out there who have gotten themselves into situations that they really didn’t want to be in, just like Sally.”

As the trial kicks off, it will hinge on Sally’s ability to prove that Duncan is a liar and a crook. That’s easier said than done when he’s stitched her up so well, and after Duncan takes the stand and lies through his teeth about their ‘romance’, her heart sinks.

“Everything Duncan says is a lie!” states Sally. “It’s at this moment that Sally realises how bad her situation is looking. He makes this passionate speech about how he hadn’t had an affair with another woman before Sally, and brings up her kiss with Kevin on the night before she married Tim. Now, Sally fears that she might be going to prison, and she’s also worried that Tim is going to believe she had an affair.”

She has every right to worry, because Tim does doubt her, and he’s been getting far too close to smitten sister-in-law Gina. Although her character’s marriage is at stake, Sally tells us that the chance to work with Connie Hyde (Gina), Joe Duttine (Tim) and Brooke Vincent (Sophie) in the jail visiting room scenes has been great fun.

“I love playing the prison scenes because it feels as if I’m in a different show!” she enthuses. “It’s a nice space because I get to work with just

Standing in the dock of the court: Watching her freedom roll away is torture for innocent Sal

In a binder: Sally's problems may extend beyond what law expertise Paula carries round with her my family and then brand-new people – like the prisoners and all the officers too. It's been very interesting for me, and I've quite liked it. I know that I shouldn't really say I've enjoyed being in prison, but I have!"

Another benefit of Sally's shocking incarceration is that it's given the actress a lighter filming schedule for a while – so much so that she's taken up a new hobby to pass the time!

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

"It's great because I go in and do two full days of filming on the prison set, and then I am off for the rest of the week – I'm loving it!" she laughs. "It's funny because Sally started off doing yoga in prison, so I thought, 'Right, I'll go and do yoga'. Now I've joined a hot yoga class, and I'm addicted! I go there almost every day, and it's given me a whole new lease of life."

Sadly, for the fictional Sally, her life has never been worse, but could there be a light at the end of the tunnel? Sally realises that the night Duncan has told the court that she was with him in a hotel, she was actually visiting little Jack in hospital. All she needs is the CCTV footage to prove she was there to show Duncan to be a liar.

But it's going to take time – and that's something Sally doesn't have. So in order to postpone the trial, she engineers it so she ends up in hospital! Her choice to deliberately get injured leaves Gina and Tim horrified, and it's certainly a very different Sally to the one viewers know and love.

"This all comes when Sophie reminds her that she's done everything by the book and it's not getting her anywhere," muses Sally. "Only taking matters into her own hands is going to help, otherwise she could face being locked up for the rest of her life. I think that's the moment it dawns on her how important it is to delay the trial."

Sally's decision to take an enormous risk is going to change her life in one way or another. But we wonder – are viewers behind her, or does anyone want to see Sally do a long stretch?

"In the supermarket, viewers come up to me and say, 'OMG, I can't bear Sally being in prison, it's awful!'" she grins. "My daughter Hattie, who is just 14, told me, 'I can't watch it, I don't like you being in jail.' There is the odd one that's really pleased she's in prison because Sally is so annoying all the time. But most people want to know when she's getting out!"

Kate White

Duncan doughnut: The slimy criminal seems to have everyone fooled with his lies

BAD GIRLS!

Sally and Abi bond as cellmates...

In a stroke of Corrie genius, troubled Abi is put in the same cell as Sally – bringing two very different women closer. Outside prison walls, snobby Sally wouldn't give Abi the time of day, but they will bond over their ordeal.

"In prison, the barriers Sally might have had to Abi are knocked over, and her prejudices have been lost," reveals Sally. "Abi is, in fact, a really lovely person who has had a bad time. I've loved working with Sally Carman, who plays Abi – she's great and I'd love to do more with her."

Teaming up with someone new has enriched Sally's working life on Corrie, and she's hoping that her character revisits old relationships if she does get released.

"Gail and Sally were really good friends, so I'd like that relationship to come back," she shares. "I'd also like to work with Michael Le Vell [Kevin] more. Kevin was with Sally for years, and I feel he would always be there for her, no matter what happened, so I'd like that to be stronger."

"I also want Sally to get some comedy stuff with Tim. It'd be lovely to get their relationship back on track – if that's possible with everything that's happened. I love working with Joe Duttine [Tim], he's a delight, and I feel very lucky to work with him."

“I’m still missed by my mates at EastEnders!”

FORMER SQUARE STAR SHAHEEN JAFARGHOLI GIVES US THE LOW-DOWN ON JOINING THE CAST OF CASUALTY...

Tilly Keeper [Walford’s Louise] lives 10 minutes down the road from me – I can’t get rid of her!” chuckles ex-Albert Square actor Shaheen

Jafargholi (Shakil Kazemi), as he chats to us about his first episode of Casualty this week. “Every time I get home from Cardiff at the weekend, she’s there on my doorstep – she doesn’t even tell me she’s coming, she just rings my bell! I’m trying to hibernate after a long week at work, and she’s there waiting with food!”

There are worse problems to have than a best friend who always turns up with grub! And with Shaheen currently commuting between London and Cardiff for his new role as student nurse Marty, it’s a good thing he has someone looking out for him...

Nice to see you again, Shaheen! You’ve made the leap from EastEnders to Casualty – so how’s it all going so far?

It’s been great – I’ve been here for four months already, but it feels like way longer! Everyone’s just so down to earth and helpful. People want you to do a good job and not feel left out, because it is quite scary coming into a big show like Casualty. It never really stops, so you just hop on the train when it arrives at the platform – and hope for the best!

Shakilled: Carmel’s son was a victim of knife crime

Marty McSigh: Louise appears to have absolutely no time for the student nurse's shenanigans

Can you tell us a bit about your character, Marty?

He's a student nurse on his final placement at university, which he's doing at Holby. He has a lot of energy and enthusiasm – he's really keen to do a good job and impress people. But he can be quite sarcastic and witty, and a bit intense at times, so he might clash with a few people...

There's another new nurse starting this week – Jade.

How does Marty get on with her?

They don't get off to the best start. That's when you see his competitive side come out, when he's put in certain situations with Jade. They're both keen to do well and one-up each other, so as a result, they do silly things that student nurses probably shouldn't do.

What else can we expect from Marty in the coming weeks?

I think his energy might get him into some sticky situations with people like Louise and Robyn, who he's working closely with. Louise is his superior, and I think you'll see her coming down hard on Marty and Jade when they've done something wrong or inappropriate.

There's a great scene this week when Marty claps eyes on Connie's shoes and decides she's "fabulous"! Might we see more between them?

Marty loves Connie's energy – she's like a goddess!

What do your pals at EastEnders make of you being on Casualty?

I definitely think they miss me! But I probably see them more now than I did when I was there. Tilly and Jasmine [Armfield, aka Bex] are my best friends in real life, and I see them most weekends. I'm in Cardiff five days a week working, but I still have my flat in London, so I go home all the time.

And you saw your EastEnders pals at the Inside Soap Awards recently...

That was amazing, such a brilliant night. Your awards are always fun – everybody lets their hair down and celebrates the work they've done. I had to drive back to Cardiff at 11pm, as I had work the next day, so it went fast. But it was the best fast night ever!

Sarah Ellis

From WALFORD to HOLBY!

Shaheen was helped to settle into his new job by a familiar face...

Heading from London to Cardiff to join the cast of Casualty was a big step for Shaheen – but luckily he had an ally in the form of cast mate Maddy Hill (aka Ruby, and formerly EastEnders' Nancy Carter), who arrived in Holby earlier this year...

"We've both had a very similar journey in the past couple of years," reflects Shaheen. "It was nice to have someone who got what I was going through, in terms of jumping from one big show to another – initially, it can be quite daunting.

"But Maddy is amazing, and I look up to her a lot. She left EastEnders just as I was joining, so we never got to do anything together. She's a phenomenal actress, though – it's great to work alongside her now."

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 MONDAY

RACHEL ADEDEJI IS OVER THE MOON TO BE BACK ON THE HOLLYOAKS SET...

“Lisa’s the bravest member of the family – she’s not scared”

I’ve missed Lisa’s outfits – I was hoping I could still get away with wearing those hot pants!” laughs Rachel Adedeji, aka Lisa Loveday, as we talk to her about returning to Hollyoaks following her break from the show while on maternity leave. “My daughter, Lillian, is nearly 10 months now. She’s a little madam, but I couldn’t ask for a better best mate!”

Rachel’s all smiles as she reveals that her little girl and Jen Metcalfe’s (Mercedes) son, Daye, get along really well – and she tells us how much the cast of Hollyoaks wanted to meet her new arrival when she was born back in December last year.

“I brought Lillian into work a few times,” she grins. “You think you’ll pop in for five minutes, and you end up on a two-hour trip around the building, because everyone wants to hold your baby!”

And despite her screen clan being full of turmoil, Rachel shares just how close she is to her Loveday cast mates.

“They were all fantastic – I couldn’t get away from them even if I tried!” she beams. “They were on my doorstep 24/7. It was so nice because I’m based in Liverpool, and this isn’t my home, so the Lovedays are the next best thing to actual relatives for me.”

Rachel’s alter ego Lisa recently made a return to Hollyoaks village amid yet more family trauma, having left last year when her secret affair with her boyfriend’s father, Mac, was revealed. Following that, Simone kindly bought Lisa a ticket to Thailand, and sent her packing so that she could escape the drama of Chester.

“Lisa’s back!” exclaims Rachel.

“Someone booked her a plane ticket home, and she thanks her family for sorting it out – although it wasn’t them! Lisa, being the naughty lady she is, is aware who really bought the ticket, but is playing games with them too. I can’t say who, but there’s a mysterious person Lisa has got involved with.”

We can’t help but wonder if this person has anything to do with Liam, who is still investigating the WAGs. Or maybe it’s the mystery fella that Lisa left back in Thailand? Either way, she’s missed a lot, including her mum’s involvement with the murder of evil Glenn Donovan – but Rachel assures us it won’t be long until Lisa has caught up with their antics.

Lisa won’t be pleased if she finds out about her dad and aunt

Mac in the day: Lisa had an affair with her boyfriend's dad

Family bond: The Lovedays are reunited

"Her mum and brother bring her up to speed with what's going on," reveals the actress. "And if Lisa finds out about her dad and her Auntie Martine being secretly married, she won't be pleased. She was there when her family went through so much, and that's another bombshell that she'll find out about at some point!"

Rachel's bagged herself a lot of explosive storylines in the past – even before she was on screen, Lisa was the Lovedays' long-lost daughter. Then came the affair with Mac and the death of her boyfriend, Nathan. So we ask Rachel what's in store for her alter ego in the coming weeks.

"Expect drama, as there's always drama with Lisa!" she teases. "And expect the sassiness to return. She has been through a lot, though, so there's vulnerability too. People forget she has a lot of baggage, and I think that will soon start to unravel..."

Alice Penwill

Mother of all dramas: Debbie has endured many ups and downs of late Absolutely not – she has no suspicions at all. She thinks that Joe has literally just left. She reckons Cain is acting a bit weird, but she doesn't realise how much he's panicking. She thinks he's trying to help her.

Cain and Debbie are very close – is being a Dingle something that you treasure?

Oh, yeah. If I know I have scenes with Jeff [Hordley, aka Cain] and Emma [Atkins, who plays Charity], I know it's going to be easy, even if it's really emotional – just because we are so in-tune and very close.

If you could play another Dales character, who would you choose?

It would be somebody like Laurel, as she's so different from Debbie. Would I like to have Bob Hope on my arm? Well, Laurel and Bob have just split up – but yeah! Everyone loves a bit of Tony Audenshaw.

Is there a former Emmerdale cast mate you would like to have back on the show?

Sheree Murphy [aka Tricia Dingle]. Sheree is my best friend, but the character of Tricia was amazing, and they should never have killed her!

How would Debbie fare if she and Kim Tate went head to head?

They are very different – Kim is an out-and-out bitch, but there's sensitivity there with Debbie. She's still formidable, though – Debbie is hard, and she won't give up...

Allison Jones

While her daughter Sarah was having major surgery, Debbie Dingle was being interrogated by police about Ross Barton's acid attack. Meanwhile, her fiancé Joe had vanished – and Debbie still has no idea he's dead, or that her dad Cain believes he killed him. Add to the mix the chance that Debbie might be pregnant with Joe's child, and it's a wonder she's not gone right off the rails already! But Charley Webb, who plays Debbie, is cool, calm and collected as we grab her for a catch-up...

Hello, Charley! The pressure is definitely on for Debbie at the moment, isn't it?

Yep – it's one thing after another! But she's just trying to focus on Sarah now, and while she's still thinking about the fact that Joe has disappeared, she's making the effort to get on with her life.

Does she suspect Cain and Graham were involved in Joe's very sudden exit?

LOUISA CLEIN

Emmerdale's Maya Stepney

...faces your questions!

While there's still much to learn about Dales newbie Maya, lovely Louisa is an open book in comparison, as she happily tackles your questions...

“What has been the standout moment of your Emmerdale experience so far?”

I think that has to be when I first arrived for filming in the Emmerdale village. You arrive to the most amazing countryside, and for some reason every time I've filmed there the weather has been pretty good – really bright sunshine, open countryside and animals bouncing around. I remember getting there and thinking, ‘Yes, this is my new place of work’. It's pretty spectacular.

“Did you always want to be an actress?”

“Did you always want to become an actress while growing up?”

I did actually. I come from a family of creatives, so it was always something that I loved and wanted to do. I went through a stage of wanting to be a journalist and a doctor, but I always came back to acting. I played Dandy Dan in Bugsy Malone once, when I was at my all-girls school, and I remember drawing on a moustache. I loved that!

“Where is the oddest place you've ever been recognised in public?”

I'm not sure whether to give this answer, but there was a situation

Curl power: Louisa's hair is natural where I was at the doctors' having a smear test and the nurse actually turned around and said, ‘I've definitely seen you on the television, and can't wait to tell my husband that I've met you’! So that was a relatively embarrassing and excruciating moment.

You don't expect it to happen in those kinds of situations!

“Is your hair curly in real life, or is it styled that way for Maya?”

It is naturally that curly. The make-up department is so lovely and fantastic – they neaten up a lot of wayward hair!

“Are all the drinks and nibbles in David's shop real?”

Yes – and they are delicious! Sometimes we'll be filming at 7 o'clock in the morning, and there might be some slightly ripe salami sitting on the counter with a strong smell! But we do pinch an olive or two if we can!

“If Maya could make a good friend in the village, which character would you love to see her chum up with?”

On track: Louisa starred in play The Railway Children

Screen star: ITV drama Island At War is among Louisa's acting credits

I would love to see her chum up with Faith! I think we'd have a great laugh. I love Sally Dexter [who plays her], and I love Faith as a character. I've not worked with her so much, but we share a dressing room – so we spend a lot of off-screen time hanging out.

"Can you tell me a secret about Matthew Wolfenden, the actor who plays David?"

He manages to injure himself a lot! We've had to rewrite several scenes due to broken thumbs, feet and lots of things like that. He's accident-prone, so I'm always slightly aware of the bits of him that I can't bash too hard!

"I read that you played the viola when you were younger. Do you still play the instrument?"

Yes, I do! I have one at home, so when we can, myself and some friends might try to set up some chamber music, or sometimes I'll get it out and play a bit. It's so amazing being part of an orchestra – I played at the Royal Albert Hall as I was with the National Youth Orchestra, and it's big and loud and you are right in the middle of it. You are totally immersed in this loud music, it's brilliant. My children are starting to show an interest in musical instruments, so they'll get out the toy ones and we'll try to have a little jamming session. I hope my love of music passes on down the line!

You gotta have Faith: Could she and Maya become pals?

"Can you tell us a secret about Matthew Wolfenden [David]?"

I hope so! I have to say that I have been inspired by many teachers. I did a bit of teaching at

"Maya works in education. Do you reckon that you would make a good teacher in real life?"

my old drama school – and having been taught by some amazing people in my life, I would hope to hold on to what they have all taught me and be able to do it myself.

"What do you think Maya will end up making of her estranged husband Dr Cavanagh coping off with Bernice?"

I reckon that she will probably be very pleased to have him out of her life, to be honest! She's moved on, so I think she'll be delighted that he is no longer in the picture.

"If you could do any other job for just one day, what would it be and why?"

...asks reader Ricky Priest from Leigh-on-Sea

I love scuba diving, and I've always wanted to go and explore underwater, so maybe I'd be an underwater camera lady for the day – or something to that effect! Also, having had three children, I have such an enormous amount of respect for midwifery – so to do that for the day and deliver some babies would be pretty awesome, too!

Festive fireworks In truly heartbreaking scenes, Ashley relived the hours following the time he and his brother found out that their mother was dying of cancer. Stuck in the past, he was oblivious to the fact that

10 totally true FACTS about... Diane Parish

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' DENISE...

1 While she's a star of EastEnders, Diane Parish was in fact born in west London, on 1 November 1969 – recently celebrating her 49th birthday. The actress has two daughters: 13-year-old Kenya, and Kaya, who's nearly 11. Among her hidden talents is the ability to play the clarinet!

2 Diane rocked up in EastEnders in May 2006 as Denise Fox, a single mother to her daughters, Chelsea and Libby. Since then, her storylines have seen her endure domestic violence at the hands of Owen Turner, marry Kevin Wicks, be imprisoned by Lucas

Johnson – who faked her death – date Ian Beale, and have a son with Phil Mitchell after a one-night stand.

4 However, Diane first found telly fame back in 1993 when she starred opposite Ian McShane in the hit comedy drama Lovejoy. She's also starred in countless theatre productions – including playing Cordelia in King Lear in 1994, and replacing Naomie Harris in The Vagina Monologues in the mid-noughties.

3 Diane previously appeared in Walford in 1998, playing singer Lola Christie – the girlfriend of Mick McFarlane, who managed the night café. "I cut my teeth doing theatre, playing to audiences of 150 and then going home," she recalls. "It was a shock coming into a big TV show and I wasn't sure if I was ready. EastEnders was different back then. There was a spotlight on anyone in it – some actors were akin to pop stars. It's calmer now."

5 Having spent much of her life in the world of showbiz, Diane is wary of the focus on body image – and bans "body shaming" words in her house. "I have strong feelings about that," she told Loose Women in October. "What matters is in here [your brain], and what comes out of here [your mouth]!"

6 Diane has also spent a bit of time in the police force! In 2002, she joined The Bill as DC Eva Sharpe, and played out plots including Eva's daughter going missing and her feud with DI Neil Manson. Diane also played Eva in spin-off series Murder Investigation Team. One of the actress' biggest achievements in TV was through her role in BBC2 drama Babyfather. She starred alongside her future EastEnders cast mates Tameka Empson (Kim) and Don Gilet (Lucas Johnson), and won the Royal Television Society award for Best Actress.

7 Back in 2014, Diane appeared on game show All Star Family Fortunes. Her team consisted of one of her older brothers, Don, two of her cousins and her niece. They competed against Westlife's Brian McFadden and his family – but unfortunately, the Parish family lost by 99 points!

8 Diane is actually tiny! She stands at only 5ft 3in, but she explains how that's a good thing. "I like being a short person," she grins. "People don't expect big things from you and then they're surprised when they meet you. There's a saying in Jamaica, 'Wi likkle but wi tallawah', which means 'Don't underestimate me'."

9 Diane has spoken out about being a black actor in the industry. "The responsibility goes beyond being black," she says. "It's being a woman, being a mother, being all those sorts of things." Diane added that she's pleased EastEnders took her on as a regular. "It's a privileged position to be working constantly as a black actor – because there isn't that much work out there."

10 Diane is extremely close to her Walford sister, Tameka, aka Kim – who first appeared in 2009 before becoming a regular in 2010. "We don't even have to say things to each other sometimes!" chuckles Diane. "We just know what the other's going to do. We're very similar people as well, apart from that I'm sane! We have a great laugh. And we're pretty much sisters in real life as well as on screen."

Blast from the past

“I had the time of my life at Emmerdale!”

As star Sophie Powles takes to the stage in new musical Fanatical, she's forever grateful for her village life...

Holly Barton's sudden death in 2016 stunned Emmerdale viewers everywhere. Holly had battled drug addiction for years, and despite having returned to the family fold – determined to kick her habit – Holly's overdose proved that her fight was in vain.

The emotional moment when mum Moira found her beloved daughter dead at home was one of Emmerdale's most devastating and powerful scenes ever – and it's a day that Sophie Powles, who played Holly, will never forget...

“The story was an honour to be a part of,” she shares, as she joins us during rehearsals for her latest role in musical Fanatical. “I loved it because we'd kept the storyline so secret. Having worked so closely with substance abusers and drugs charity DISC [since renamed Humankind], we really wanted to do it justice, and for the audience to feel the massive impact that losing Holly had on Moira and her family.”

Sophie joined the Barton ranks when her screen clan arrived in 2009. Holly left the village for a new life in London with sister Hannah in 2012 – returning four years later in the grip of heroin addiction. Holly passed away just six months later, but Sophie's grateful for every moment she spent in the role.

“I had the best time of my life working alongside the incredible

Natalie [J Robb, who plays Moira] and Jeff [Hordley, aka Cain],” she beams. “I'm really proud of what we created together, and we formed an incredible bond. Filming Holly's final scenes with Nat was absolutely heartbreaking. We'd practised the night before and I thought I'd be fine – but when I saw myself in the mirror with my death make-up on, it was awful.

“It's such a weird thing to see yourself dead. And when they called ‘Cut’, both of us just burst out crying. It was the end of an era, the end of mine and Natalie's journey on-screen, so it was really sad.”

Since leaving the show, Sophie has remained in touch with her Emmerdale co-stars – “Natalie's still like my mum, she always rings to check I'm all right!”

– who she's hoping might come to see her in Fanatical. The production tells the tale of a group of sci-fi fans attending a convention for their favourite show Angel 8, and Sophie is loving it.

“It's a funny story, very cool, and it's got real heart,” she enthuses. “I'm going on stage every night with the loveliest cast, and I don't think I've ever laughed so much. The characters in the show are people who love something, and are celebrating it – with the underlying message that we should all be a bit more accepting, and not judge people.

“It's one of the things I learned while I was at Emmerdale – which has such a loyal fanbase – that without the people who love and support what you're doing, there's no point. It's so rewarding how people invest in your character, so I can really relate to Fanatical in that way.

“Emmerdale was such a big part of my life,” adds Sophie. “I met my best friends there and it's such a treat to be doing what you love every day – I'm so grateful for all the amazing training and everything I learned there. I had the best time!”

Allison Jones

Fan-tastic: Holly is loving her new stage role

BROTHERLY LOVE!

Sophie reveals how she's recently bonded with her on-screen sibling...

"I rang Natalie one day, and she said, 'I'm with your brother, would you like to chat with him?'" explains

Sophie. "So me and Ash [Palmisciano, aka Matty] had a lovely chat on the phone! I've sent him my Barton hoody, which James Thornton [who played Holly's late father James] had made for all of us when we did a charity abseil together a few years ago.

"I think Holly and Matty would have got on like a house on fire, like me and Ash have," continues the star. "His Inside Soap Award [for Best Newcomer] was so well-deserved, because he's a talented actor and a great addition to the show. And he messaged me for details about Fanatical last night, so I think he's going to come and watch!"

Fanatical* is at The Playground Theatre in London until 9 December. Book online at www.theplaygroundtheatre.london

THE STARS OF CORRIE LOOK TOO COOL FOR GHOUL AT A HALLOWEEN BASH...

They scrub up a treat on the Street – but the Corrie girls were more ‘trick’ than ‘treat’ as they dressed up for The Mirror Ball’s Halloween Spooktacular at the Abode Hotel in Manchester. Although some looked more ghoulish than others, the ladies certainly put in the effort to differ from their alter egos, with Faye Brookes (Kate) dressed as Wonder Woman, and co-star Lucy Fallon (Bethany) transformed into DC Comics’ Harley Quinn. Elsewhere, Bhavna Limbachachia (Rana) was half-Egyptian, half-skeleton, and Victoria Ekanoye (Angie) was her normal gorgeous self, apart from those scary green contact lenses! And while it was a night of horror, there was joy too – as it seems Faye and her ex-boyfriend, Gareth Gates, might be back together. The pair separated in September, but cuddled up in order to pose for this cute snap.

What a treat! Gareth and Faye reunited at the event...

...and Bhavna struck a pose with her screen lover Faye too!

And strutting her stuff on the street is Jen, who leads the pack in a sparkly dark wrap dress. Gorgeous!

Huge congratulations Perry. You’re such a tremendous actor and I’m so lucky to have you at my side!” Awww, sweet!

JIM HOGAN: PILLAR OF THE COMMUNITY, OR A MAN HIDING A DARK SECRET? WE ASK ADRIAN DUNBAR...

Homegrown dramas on Channel 5 are a rare thing indeed, so all the more reason to treasure this compelling new psychological serial set in rural Ireland, which airs this week. Following the apparently accidental death of her mother, Cat Hogan returns to the family home she's kept a considered distance from for many years,

Éire fare: The family secrets are about to be uncovered and tries to put the past behind her so she can pay her respects. But she starts to suspect that her father Jim may have been involved in her mother's death...

"All kinds of different things happen within families, and there are often secrets within them," muses Adrian Dunbar, who plays Jim. "Basically, Jim's trying to keep a lid on his own personal secret, but there are other ghosts from the past, so the return of a daughter and a buried mystery stimulates a series of happenings – and in every episode, just as one thing appears to be absolutely rock solid, it gets knocked down by something else!"

Jim has a near-faultless reputation in the community as the trusted local GP, but as Cat returns home, it's clear that she and Jim haven't always seen eye to eye – so could there be a darker side lurking behind this seemingly respectable man?

"He's got a very difficult relationship with his daughter that goes back many years," reveals Adrian. "Something that happened between them, and this secret that the family has kept, has led her to the place where she doesn't trust her dad, which is unfortunate, to say the least. And when she comes back after the death of her mother, a series of small incidents – and then some rather bigger bits of information – lead her to be even more suspicious of her father and his part in the death of her mother."

Adrian's best-known role on TV in recent years is of course Superintendent Ted Hastings in BBC drama Line Of Duty, where he plays one of the few seemingly clear-cut good guys battling against police corruption. That contrast with Jim's more enigmatic motivations is why this role proved irresistible.

"I think it was very good casting to cast me," says the actor, with a grin. "I've already established another character that I play, ol' Ted, and the nation wants to believe that Ted's a good guy – but that could all unravel, of course, because there's a new series of Line Of Duty about to happen! So I think placing me in the middle of this was a clever thing to do, insofar as the audience won't want me to be a bad guy."

Adrian's certainly being kept busy, filming Blood near Dublin, then heading back to Belfast to begin work on Line Of Duty again. But while he's enjoying these roles, he has a request for his next project...

"I'd like to work in London sometime!" chuckles Adrian. "It's where I live. Line Of Duty means four months in Belfast, and, much as I love Belfast, I do like my own bed!"

Antiques expert Paul Martin picks his dream viewing...

This Country

My favourite drama of late would have to be Peaky Blinders – I love it. In fact, I enjoy anything that's got Tom Hardy in it, I think he's brilliant. I can't wait for the next series of Taboo, either. I love Strictly Come Dancing and The X Factor, too. My kids want me to be on Strictly, and I keep trying! You never know, maybe one day...

I think This Country is absolutely fantastic, it's the funniest thing on telly. What a clever pair [writers and stars Daisy May Cooper and Charlie Cooper] they are – they're brother and sister, and I think they're comedy geniuses.

As I've got children, a quiet night in front of the telly has to be a kiddy thing! So we'll typically put on a DVD, something like Christopher

Christopher Robin

Peaky Blinders

Robin. We love family films, and we try to watch all the latest movies.

BBC4 is brilliant. I particularly like watching the art programmes with Andrew Graham-Dixon – he's my hero at the moment. He lights up my world. When I watch him present and talk about art, he gives me enthusiasm and energy, and he helps everyone to develop a connoisseur's eye.

I love music programmes. I grew up watching The Old Grey Whistle Test, and now I love watching Jools Holland's Later... He's an extremely versatile and talented pianist, a great musician, and has got such a broad palate, so his show is a brilliant way to find out about world music.

What do you mean you're NOT watching...

I'LL GET THIS | BBC2 TUESDAY

GOING OUT FOR DINNER with your mates always gets complicated when the bill arrives and you have to decide how best to split it, but this series has developed a rather ingenious way of settling that dispute. Each week, five celebs who wouldn't normally hang out in the same circles go for a slap-up meal and drop their credit cards in a bowl on the table. They then play a series of games, and the winner of each one gets to take their card back out – whoever's card is left at the end has to pay for the whole lot. It makes for absolutely brilliant telly, but we're not sure we're ready to try it out in Pizza Hut just yet...

Stepping stones:
Faye and partner Giovanni are making moves towards Blackpool

WE CHECK IN WITH FAYE TOZER
FOR A STRICTLY MID-SERIES UPDATE...

STRICTLY COME DANCING | BBC1 SATURDAY & SUNDAY

It's week nine on Strictly Come Dancing, and that can only mean one thing: we're all going to Blackpool! (Okay, fine: they are all going to Blackpool. We will be in our living rooms as usual, eating biscuits.) It's always one of the high points of the series, with enormous group dances and a chance for the celebrities to compete in a world-renowned ballroom.

So we decided that this would be a fine time to catch up with Steps star Faye Tozer and find out what the experience of being on the show has been like for her so far – and what it would mean to her to get the chance to dance in the hallowed Blackpool Tower Ballroom...

Hot to foxtrot: Faye is hoping to illuminate the Blackpool ballroom

Hi, Faye! Has your Strictly experience measured up to your expectations so far?

I've wanted to do this show for years, and I feel so lucky that I'm here. It's kind of everything I expected and more – the camaraderie within the celebs and everybody backstage – it's a really lovely job to do. It's a wonderful experience.

And what has been your favourite dance so far?

That's really tricky! I guess I'd say when we did our Couple's Choice, and we did theatre-jazz – which was a first for Strictly – and we got 39 points. We felt it could've been a risk because people at home may not have understood what we were doing, or might not have liked it, but I think it was a bonus that it was Halloween week, and it was a quirky routine, so it went well with everything that was going on.

How has ballroom and Latin compared to the sort of dancing you do with Steps?

It's so unnatural! What I've found is I've had strains and pains from maintaining frame and then holding that position all the way through, with your head going one way and your body going another. It's like a foreign language! It hasn't been perfect every week, it really hasn't, but I just want to give it my absolute best.

What's an average week in training like for you?

On Monday you go in and hear your music and film some bits, and you learn the basics of your routine, so that's usually quite a happy day! Then 'Tricky Tuesday' is when you start learning the style properly and about how it's supposed to look. Wednesday is trying to polish things up a bit and start making it into a performance, and on Thursday you need your show face on and to know what you're doing, because on Friday you're in the studio!

What's the best piece of advice you've been given since you started Strictly?

To take it all in, as the weeks just fly, and you don't know when your last week will be. You've got to really enjoy it and have no regrets, because every weekend someone goes, so you've got to soak it all in.

What would it mean to you to dance in Blackpool?

Oh, my goodness, everybody wants to go to Blackpool! It would be such an amazing opportunity to dance there, with all its history and prestige. And the sets are bigger and more exciting, so there's a real buzz about it. It's definitely something I'd like to head towards. Fingers crossed!

THE LAST KINGDOM | Netflix MONDAY

KINGDOM COME

A NEW ENEMY REVEALS HERSELF AS THE HISTORICAL DRAMA MAKES THE MOVE TO NETFLIX...

After two series of ninth-century power struggles on BBC2, The Last Kingdom moves to Netflix for its third series this week – and we can confirm that it's lost none of its swagger, as the latest run brings us more political machinations and blood-strewn battles...

"Hopefully there are many more series to come, but it feels like series one and two have been building to this point," teases David Dawson, who plays King Alfred. "It really is life-and-death decisions this year."

"Uhtred is in a very comfortable place," adds Alexander Dreymon, who plays the mighty warrior. "Alfred and Uhtred are getting along surprisingly well at the beginning of the series – then it all hits the fan..."

One reason for that is the arrival of the Saxons' most fearsome enemy yet, Skade, played by Norwegian actress Thea Sofie Loch Næss. While Skade appears small and physically unimposing, she possesses enough power to unleash a chain of events that will devastate Uhtred and his allies.

"Thea's brilliant, and playing so far away from what she really is as well," enthuses Harry McEntire, who plays Aethelwold. "She is one of the kindest, sweetest people I've ever met, yet she plays a character with such intensity and ferocity and violence. It's an amazing thing to see somebody do that."

"And kudos to production for casting somebody like that," agrees Alexander. "I think it's going to be very surprising for everyone to see such an angelic face committing these horrible acts of torture."

What you looking at?: Skade is a formidable character

Taking the Michael

In a world of on-demand telly, it feels nostalgically comforting that the kind of shows that command the whole family to gather round the box still exist. And it's Mr McIntyre's mission to make his show one of them. The format sticks to familiar terrain, with Send To All and Midnight Gameshow back again – the latter with a twist: the unwitting contestants have to identify the pop star who's been singing in their shower. Hmm. We'd be wanting to crack open the Dettol if it turned out that certain celebs had been caterwauling in our bathroom, frankly.

Still, there are plenty of sans shower musical performances this series, including Kylie, George Ezra, Paloma Faith and Michael Bublé. Get the family tub of Quality Street in ready.

Buddy Holly

It's back! Hurrah! Okay, there's one obvious absence in that Ant is missing from hosting duties as he's, erm, got stuff on. So those of us hoping for the usual quality bantz between the Geordie duo will have to suffice with Holly Willoughby – though she and Dec are longtime pals, so we're crossing fingers for a bit of well-meaning mickey-taking.

Anyway, which suckers (and we don't mean the leeches) have been beckoned by the bush? Let us gaze into our crystal ball... Ah, we see The Chase's Anne Hegerty, footie manager Harry Redknapp, Corrie's Sair Khan, and is that... Shayne Ward? The vision is fading... Maybe it's Tim Henman, or ex-Mr Katie Price Kieran Hayler... Alas, we can see no more. Unless you have a tenner handy?

DRIVEN: THE BILLY MONGER STORY | BBC3 10AM

Billy Monger was making a name for himself as one of Britain's most promising talents in the world of motorsport, but after losing both of his legs as a result of a high-speed crash last April, his future in the sport he loves was suddenly in doubt...

"I always hoped that I'd go back to racing – there wasn't a point where I really didn't want to," Billy tells Inside TV. "But I didn't know whether it would be possible or not, so it was quite a tough time. But I knew that if it was doable, or if people thought that there might be a chance, I'd give it my best shot."

This film follows Billy and his family in the aftermath of the accident, including his mission to get motorsport governing body the FIA to grant a rule change allowing disabled drivers to race in single-seater cars.

"We thought from the simulator work we'd done that I'd be able to drive safely – it was just about getting that across to the FIA," says Billy. "And, to be fair, they were very helpful – they were supportive of what I was doing."

The waiting game

We're used to seeing relatives fretting in the waiting areas on this show, but in tonight's episode, Niki and Paul – the parents of recently admitted 20-year-old Jacob – have more to worry about than most. He's being checked for internal bleeding after crashing his car into a wall at high speed, and as they wait for an update on his condition, they're also worried about the circumstances of the collision – could their son face a reckless driving charge when he gets out of hospital?

Over in the children's emergency department, seven-year-old Jackson has been brought in with a suspected skin infection. While he waits for his blood test results, the staff can't help admiring his cool hat...

Playing for keeps

RICHARD OSMAN'S HOUSE OF GAMES | BBC2 6PM

Regional variations

A new week begins, and another group of four celebs takes on Richard's compendium of challenges. This time, the line-up consists of comedians Lolly Adefope and Miles Jupp, and presenters Dan Walker and Sarah Greene, and they have no idea what awaits them – but something tells us they're all going to get quite competitive before the week is out. They'll be playing for the honour of being crowned daily champion, though the real fight is over who gets to be overall winner at the end of the week. There are no prizes for playing along at home, sadly, yet since when have we ever let that stop us?

MY BRILLIANT FRIEND | Sky Atlantic 9PM

This adaptation of Elena Ferrante's bestselling novel is a bit of a groundbreaker: it's the first foreign-language drama to be made by prestige TV superproducer HBO. The story follows the childhood memories of Elena Greco, which are stirred up after she hears that her former best friend Lila Cerullo has gone missing – news that doesn't particularly come as a surprise. Episode two airs tomorrow.

THE HURTING | Dave 7PM

And going very much from the sublime to the ridiculous, Jake Yapp returns with a second series of carefully curated viral clips of people doing the daftest things – often to the point of significant personal injury. Don't try these at home.

CONDOR | Universal 9PM

Joe reaches out to his ex-girlfriend Janice in an attempt to arrange a meeting with Caleb Wolfe – but is she willing to go out on a limb for him? Meanwhile, Bob tries to get information out of Joubert, and a plan is put into action.

get a reminder that that's not always a good thing.

For example: five per cent of UK families are responsible for 50 per cent of criminal arrests. "A lot of our calls are the same families – brothers and sisters, mothers and sons, mothers and daughters," muses Rachel Woodbridge. "You often think to yourself, 'I wonder what it is now?'" You know that when you hear a certain name, it's not going to be good." And a drunk man arrested tonight comes from one of those families...

From the inside out

INFORMER | BBC1 9PM

For everyone who didn't take up the BBC on its offer of bingeing the entire series on an iPlayer box set, tonight brings the finale of the undercover thriller. As the armed units prepare to take down the terrorist cell, Gabe is concerned for Raza's safety, given their general trigger-happiness. Luckily, he gets out safely, but though this looks like a successful end to the operation, there are still a few loose ends to tie up – there's an inconvenient witness to the sting, Raza has to keep a low profile until it can be confirmed that all members of the cell have been caught, and Gabe needs a word with Holly.

THE FINAL TABLE | Netflix

A brand-new Netflix 'Original', in which a whopping 12 teams, comprising some of the world's greatest chefs, compete to tantalise the taste buds of nine culinary legends by rustling up an iconic dish from Mexico, Spain, England, Brazil, France, Japan, America, India and Italy. (Whether England is represented by a giant Yorkshire pudding remains to be seen.) Their prize? A seat alongside said nine at The Final Table. Ooh.

MASTERCHEF AUSTRALIA | W 7PM

It's the grand final of Aussie MasterChef tonight. Heston Blumenthal challenges the two finalists to replicate a dessert composed of 19 elements (we could handle that if 18 of them were tins of custard). Who'll be crowned the Wizard of Oz?

THE RESIDENT | Universal 9PM

Slightly late to the Halloween party, this episode, but tonight The Resident still aims to give us nightmares. Devon faces his first All Hallows' Eve in the ER, while Nic worries about letting her sister tag along to Mina's annual Halloween party.

The artful bodgers

Good people of Glasgow, you have our most heartfelt sympathies – the remaining candidates are packing their overnight bags and heading to your manor for this week's task. If you're wondering what you could have possibly done to deserve this, it's because of your bustling modern art market, as Lord Sugar wants his entrepreneurs to try their hands at being art dealers.

Each team has to pick a local artist to represent at an upcoming gallery event, and

Lord Sugar has also laid on a corporate client for each team with a brief to acquire some art on their behalf. That leaves them with a tricky judgement to make – stick with the brief they've been given, or go with what they think they can sell?

Hounds of love

PAUL O'GRADY: FOR THE LOVE OF DOGS | ITV 8PM

Regional variations

Paul gets involved with the quest to reunite golden retriever Buddy with his owners this week, after he's found tied to the railings outside. (Buddy, that is, not Paul. Although Paul loves that place so much, nothing would surprise us any more.) Even though Buddy is microchipped, a call to his owners yields no response, so Paul and the team start training him in the hope of finding him a new home. Also in need of a little love and attention this week is Humphrey, who was handed in by a member of the public when they found him living on the streets. Paul is, of course, instantly smitten...

ZAPPED | Dave 10PM

Barbara's delighted to have gained entry into the Seers' Guild at long last in tonight's finale – but is slightly deflated when she is put on weather-forecasting duty and stuck behind a desk near the toilet.

Oh, and there's the small matter of that vision she had of her lying in a pool of blood, having been attacked by Brian. We probably should have led with that. As for Brian, his scheme to earn easy money by joining the Munty Reserve Force goes horribly wrong...

GINO'S ITALIAN COASTAL ESCAPE | ITV 8.30PM

Treasured islands

Gino leaves the mainland behind this week and heads out into Italy's only Adriatic archipelago – the isles of Tremiti. The five beautiful islands are nicknamed “the pearls of the Adriatic”, but they don't have a very warm welcome in store for Gino upon his arrival – it's pouring with rain, just as he's due to take a helicopter flight. And lest you think this is him being flash – this is a standard shuttle service for the islanders!

With his bumpy crossing out of the way, the sun finally comes out and Gino sets off on a tour of the largest island, San Domino, courtesy of Marco, a local whose family has lived there since the 18th century. And with access to a wealth of fresh fruits, vegetables and herbs, Gino soon feels inspired.

In this new four-part series, consumer champion Esther Rantzen sets her sights on the dodgy workmen who target the UK's pensioner population. To catch them out, Esther has set up a 'house trap' equipped with hidden microphones and cameras, and recruited a 'silver army' of undercover OAPs. The first company to get the House Trap treatment is a TV repair firm that has racked up a string of complaints after charging older people for unnecessary work. Step forward secret agent Betty, who took up wing-walking in her 80s and therefore isn't easily intimidated, to carry out the operation...

Push the boat out

Former big-gun newshounds – and, more recently, I'm A Celebrity... and Strictly contestants respectively – Michael Buerk and John Sergeant rekindle an old friendship to embark on an adventure along Britain's aesthetic coastline, reigniting a friendly rivalry along the way.

Departing from the slightly less-than-impressive dockside at Lowestoft in Suffolk, the pair explore the south-east coast in this first episode, navigating their way through Fisherman's

Gat (a treacherous narrow passage of shallow water, nothing to do with throat lozenges). Among the odd bit of sarcasm and I-know-more-about-sailing-than-you-do banter, these two give a sense of true companion, er, ship.

WOULD I LIE TO YOU? | BBC1 9.30PM

Regional variations

Don't miss your fix of the comedy panel show tonight – it's the last one till Christmas! Gah! Sitting alongside David this week are Richard Osman and Diane Morgan – aka the phenomenal Philomena Cunk – while Lee has presenter Rory Reid and This Country's Daisy May Cooper on his team, attempting to sort fact from fiction. Does Richard genuinely play a game called Worm, Pigeon, Shotgun instead of Rock, Paper, Scissors? Is Rory really being stalked by a rogue cat? Did Lee honestly turn down an invite to Harry and Meghan's wedding to do this episode?! All will be revealed...

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

ADAM FOGERTY (‘Prison officer’, Corrie)

IN The ex-boxer is joining Corrie for a short run of episodes as a prison officer – but who's gone inside? Will he be part of Sally's jail plot, or will another local be on the wrong side of the law? Whoever it is, we reckon Adam's character will give them a tough time – the actor is most famous for hard-man roles in gangster films such as Snatch and Legend.
January 2019

JULIA HILLS (Morag, EastEnders)

IN As we report on p31, Ian Beale joins the Walford Warblers this week – and choirmistress Morag is the woman leading the singing! She's played by Julia Hills, who's best known for her role as man-eater Rona in 1990s' sitcom 2 Point 4 Children. Morag will be sticking around for an extended stint in the weeks leading up to Christmas – but will she be making sweet music, or causing disharmony in Walford? Thursday 22 Nov

BEVERLEY CALLARD (Liz McDonald, Corrie)

IN Corrie fans were up in arms when Beverley announced she was joining the cast of The Rocky Horror Show. This led to rumours that she was taking a month off the soap, or was even considering quitting for good after three decades as Liz. Add to this some tabloid stories of a horrifying event for Liz later this year, and concerns for her future reached fever pitch! But we're relieved to tell you that Corrie has confirmed Bev has no plans to quit, and as the stage show is in Manchester, and only for one month, she'll be able to work her new job alongside her Street commitments. Phew! Spring

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

In what universe does Carla Connor say to Peter Barlow: "I've made some mistakes and I'm willing to learn from them." Her mistakes? The stress of Peter cheating on Carla with a woman half her age caused her to miscarry their baby, for mercy's sake!

Baby Dotty has the right idea when it comes to Bob. Just cancel out his prattle entirely!

In Emmerdale, Gerry's memorial continues. The mourning now stretches into its 27th month. Honestly, Jack Sugden and Alan Turner passed with less fuss.

When you get your Christmas scripts and realise you're in every... single... scene.

As Corrie characters go, Gail is a national treasure. But to have her as your mother-in-law? You'd rather boil your head.

EastEnders is determined to persist with the idea that Linda has given up on Mick and somehow fallen for Stuart. It's a fake-out that might have worked with a lesser couple. Otherwise... Pull the other one!

The last person we expected to see at the Woolpack's Hunk Night was Jeremy Corbyn.

That look a woman gets when she thinks she might be pregnant with Steve McDonald's baby. Again.

Lorraine Stanley really earns her money on EastEnders.

BULLSEYE!

After months of gruelling work anchoring Walford's knife-crime plot, it's a crying shame that the wonderful Bonnie Langford didn't leave Walford to the strains of the show's iconic exit music, Julia's Theme. Instead, she left in a taxi. On a Monday night. Without so much as a doof-doof! Outrageous. The only possible explanation is that perhaps we haven't seen the last of Carmel. We live in hope!

Baby Abi has about as much luck as her mother when it comes to being in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Will nobody think of the children?

There's an ITV soaps crossover just begging for Robert and Aaron to bump into Kate and Rana at a support group. Aaron and Kate want babies, Robert and Rana don't... They'd have so much to talk about!
